

We are Mentalab, a neurotechnology start-up based in Munich, making the next generation of mobile, high-end biosensor technology. We are a team of ambitious entrepreneurs, engineers, and scientists, and are looking to grow our team: to support our sales and media activities, we are looking for a motivated individual to join us as a Minijobber (450€) for 10 h / week.

What's in it for you:

- Be part of an international & interdisciplinary team, work autonomously
- Learn how a start-up operates, working in direct communication with the leadership team
- Flexible working hours. Work from home when needed.
- Benefit from a flexible employment duration (minimum 3 months, extendable)

What you will be doing:

- Learn how to support the sales team in communicating with leads and customers
- Identify and generate repositories of academic researchers and groups from internal sources
- Help us expand our social media activities and generate marketing materials

Ideal qualifications:

- Advanced proficiency in German and English (error-free writing)
- Basic understanding of / interest in academic research
- Strong communication, organizational and computer skills, high level of autonomy
- High level of professionalism and work ethics

Interested? Send your CV & cover letter to contact@mentalab.com to apply!